

Privacy Policy

The users' names and email addresses will be used exclusively for implementation the technical tasks: dispatch of letters on new issue publication and contacting with authors, reviewers and editors within the process of preparing articles for publication.

The Editors don't transmit the users' personal data to third party organizations.

The editors and reviewers are prohibited from disclosing the information submitted in the manuscripts before they are published online.